

How can concerns parents may have be raised?

- If you have concerns about your child's progress you should speak to your child's class teacher in the first place.
- If you are not happy that the concerns are being managed and that your child is still not making progress you should speak to the SENCo (Special Educational Needs Co-ordinator).
- If you are still not happy you should make an appointment to speak to the Head Teacher.
- If you still have concerns after speaking with the staff in school then you can speak to the school SEND Governor.
